A TUBE IN HIS THROAT.-A fifteen-minute blockade, which was only untangled by the united efforts of two policemen, was caused by a noise in Nassau street, near Fulton, yesby a noise in Nassau street, near Finion, yes-terday. The horse was not a balky animal-Ho was a sturdy young chestnut full of life From the front of his throat protruded a sil-ver tube and at intervals of a minute or two he would let a puff of wind out of the tube that sounded like a timid carliope. Every time the horse blew his whistle the crowd s'and-ing around would laugh and the horse would bell whis horse as if delighted with the ating around would laugh and the horse would kick up his heels av if delighted with the attraction he was attracting. The continual sounding of the whistle attracted more and more people until the policemen on the Fulton street and Nasau street beats came along an I moved the crowd away.

The driver of the truck to which the horse was attached said his horse was attached a year ago by influenza and his windpipe thickened. He was a valuable animal and his owner decided to have the operation of his owner decided to have the operation of tracheotomy performed to save his life. The operation was entirely successful, and a silver tabe helped the horse to breathe until he re-covered from his illness. Of course after his recovery the tube had to be left in the ani-mil's throat.—New York Advertiser.
